

Women in Academic Biology Panel

...come hear from a representation of the many female faculty at Rutgers who are successfully running biology research labs, teaching, performing university service and keeping a balanced life. They will share their stories and advice. It can be done!

Lauren Aleksunes
Toxicology

Huaye Zhang
Neuroscience

Karen Schindler
Genetics

Cheryl Dreyfus
Chair of Neuroscience

Tracy Anthony
Nutritional Sciences

Tuesday March 27, 2018

3:30 – 5:00 pm

Center for Advanced Biotechnology and Medicine 679 Hoes Lane West, Room 010, Piscataway

Approximately 52% of PhD students the life sciences are women, but only about 40% of postdocs, 36% of assistant professors, and 18% of full professors in biology are women (Sheltzer and Smith 2014). We will discuss the leaky pipeline and how to encourage more women to pursue tenure track positions in the biological sciences. We will also discuss unconscious bias against women in STEM. Come be inspired by the panelists and contribute to this important conversation!

This event is open to graduate students, postdocs, faculty and staff
Graduate students and postdocs should register via iJOBS EventBrite