

MASTERING THE ART OF NETWORKING: A CAREER CONFERENCE & ETIQUETTE DINNER

December 10, 2022 • 12 – 5:30 pm
Busch Student Center, Multipurpose Room

Whether you are a first-year student learning to network and make friends or a senior or graduate student trying to enhance your job search prospects, join us for an immersive experience that empowers you to overcome the initial fears of networking, master the art of working a room, feel confident with small talk, and develop a professional online brand. Capped off by a facilitated etiquette dinner featuring a two-course meal, invest a few hours and acquire the tools necessary to succeed in your future career endeavors and everyday life.

FACILITATORS:

DR. ALEX ELLIS is an award-winning author, international speaker, and trainer who turns heads across the nation through his transformational message.

MARY HARRIS is an expert focusing on business etiquette, etiquette training, and the power of soft business skills.

JEAN O'TOOLE is the co-founder of Connections101, a scholarship strategist, a public speaker, and an author of Scholarship Strategies.

ANDREW SEGUEL is a licensed professional counselor (LPC) specializing in career counseling and counseling for LGBTQIA+ individuals through his private practice, Counseling for Change.

Breakout Session Topics:

- The Art of Improv: Mastering Small Talk
- The Art of Working a Room: An Interactive Networking Clinic
- The Art of Your Online Branding: LinkedIn Learning Labs and Professional Headshots
(Brought to you by the Office of Career Exploration and Success)

Conference Highlights Include:

- Free LinkedIn Headshot
- Free Portfolio
- Facilitated Dining Etiquette Dinner
- (4) #Rutgersworks Free Tuition Challenge Stamps (Visit careers.rutgers.edu/challenge for more information.)

RUTGERS
Career Exploration and Success

Visit careers.rutgers.edu/conference to register.